Ref: New Price List 2012

Dear customer;

Price list 2012 is at the printer and will be effective Monday February 6, 2012. Our 2011 prices will be honored up until Friday February 3, 2012. Average increase is less than 2%.

There are two factors behind rising costs of manufacture. The biggest cause is rising world consumption of copper, nickel, oil and steel. The second cause is the U. S. deficit, which forces our government to print more money, which devalues it's apparent purchasing power in the world market.

In spite of a low-growth hardware market, we do not expect prices for raw materials to do anything but increase.
